Letter of Reference Ron King

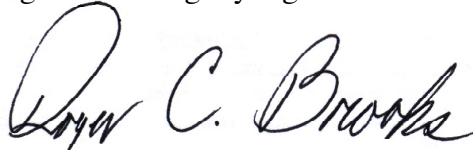

Ron King is a creative thinker, an effective teacher, and a superbly competent artist, architect, and author. He works well with adults and children. He is positive and committed to excellence. I encourage any school interested in having an outstanding artist in residence program to consider this fine gentleman.

For more than two decades, it has been my pleasure to know Ron King as an artist, colleague, and friend. During that time, I served with Mr. King on various Boards of Directors and worked with him on several successful projects that required creative solutions and dedicated persistence.

For several years, he was the architect in residence at Garrison Elementary School. As principal of the school, I was impressed by the way in which he brought the entire school through a process of analysis, design, and construction for our built environment. Each year, the project changed but the process remained the same: teaching students and staff a methodology for problem solving that they applied in other subjects and life situations.

Later, at Beaver Meadow School, he created set designs for theatre presentations and demonstrated not only creative skills and positive work ethic, but also a superb ability to work with people of wide-ranging ages and abilities. Two of his publications, Teaching Architecture in the Schools and Mini Marketing are well-worn reference books in my professional library.

I give Mr. King my highest recommendation.
